

PRESS RELEASE, 9 July 2014, 09:00 GMT

MDX Technology Reaffirms North American Expansion Plans and selects Collaborative Financial Services Inc. as its exclusive Canadian agent

London, Toronto – 9 July 2014 – MDX Technology Ltd. (MDXT), the market data connectivity specialist, today announced it has appointed Collaborative Financial Services Inc. (CFSI) as its exclusive Canadian agent. This selection follows the recent opening of MDXT’s Princeton, NJ office and reaffirms the company’s expansion plans for North America.

Paul Watmough, CEO at MDX Technology, said, “The global economy is bouncing back and financial services businesses in Canada are renewing their focus on growth. In order to drive both short-term revenue growth and a sustainable competitive advantage they are looking at technology such as ours. We firmly believe that a partner with local expertise and resources can help us further expand in the region. After a careful due diligence exercise we decided that CFSI is the right partner for us.”

“MDX Technology has been leading the way in market data connectivity and collaboration solutions,” said Jim Davies, co-founder and managing partner at CFSI. “The team has a strong reputation which fits perfectly with our strategy of offering best of breed solutions. In addition, we can leverage their solutions with future complimentary services.”

CFSI is the latest addition to MDX Technology’s growing eco-system designed to benefit clients and partners.

- Ends -

Note to editors:

Company screenshots and headshots can be downloaded from our Pinterest board.

For further information please contact:

Tinne Teugels

Email: Tinne@tinneteugels.com

Phone: +1 646 520 5548

About MDX Technology Ltd.

MDX Technology (MDXT) focuses on market data connectivity solutions for Traders, Developers and Market Data Professionals in the Capital Markets, Energy and Commodities sectors. MDXT's clients include investment banks, prop traders, hedge funds, investment managers, spread betters, brokers and other software development companies across the globe. MDXT is headquartered in London with global representation. For more information please visit www.MDXTechnology.com.

About CFSI

Working closely with technology partners and associates, CFSI is assembling a suite of complimentary solutions and services tailored to meet the specific needs of financial professionals in the Canadian Capital Markets. Leveraging 'Best of Breed' products and services allows CFSI to offer our clients innovatively packaged cost effective solutions while removing the complexity of managing multiple vendors. Recently founded by Jim Davies, Will Kennedy and Dave Mulder, the firm has offices in Toronto. More information can be found at <http://www.cfsica.com>.